- ☐ 1. Source learned from a KVP that on 10 September 1953, 50 percent of Unit Fricke moved to Kietz on the Elbe River and the remainder to Pragsdorf near Neubrandenburg, allegedly for maneuvers to be held there.
- ☐ 2. On 10 September, Unit Muehle moved to Kuechensee, where it probably will remain. Captain Kiesslich formerly commandant of the installation at Puenfeichen, allegedly also moved to Kuechensee.

☐ Comment. , which was furnished by the same source. Unit Fricke is the engineer battalion of Mechanized Division Eggesin, Unit Muehle the engineer battalion of Division Prenzlau. It is believed that the movement mentioned in the report were connected with KVP exercises. Elements of the engineer unit in Kuechensee also moved to Kietz, while elements of the engineer unit from Treuenbrietzen moved to Kuechensee. There is a possibility that the troop train observed on 8 September carried component units of the engineer battalion of Division Prenzlau to Kuechensee.
